2021 ANNUAL REPORT

About the Coalition for the Homeless

History

The InterFaith Conference of Metropolitan Washington, an inter-religious organization created the Coalition for the Homeless (CFH) in 1979 through its Hunger Task Force. The Coalition was originally composed of direct service providers to the homeless to provide full-time advocacy work on issues of homelessness and poverty. CFH was incorporated on August 18, 1981 as a 501 (c) 3 nonprofit in the District of Columbia. Today, the agency's efforts are focused on housing and direct services.

Mission

The Coalition's mission is to help transition homeless and at-risk individuals and families to self-sufficiency through housing programs and supportive services.

Vision

Rebuilding lives through the elimination of homelessness

Goals

- Transition individuals to affordable permanent housing
- Increase public awareness and support of homeless issues
- Maximize vital education and job readiness support for homeless citizens
- Provide access to job training and employment placement services
- Reduce the number of homeless people in shelters
- Strengthen and develop partnerships with other organizations

Message From Our Leadership

Hello Friends,

We are grateful for your continued interest in and support of the Coalition's mission. We hope all is well with you and your family. We thank you for your compassion, generosity, and determination to help ensure homeless individuals have the chance to change their lives.

Thank you to our volunteer board of directors for your service to the community. Each of you gives your talent, expertise, and time to the Coalition, keeping its best interests at the forefront of your efforts. Your ideas, suggestions, and enthusiasm helped us make significant improvements to our programs and services.

Thank you to our dedicated staff for everything they do to help those who seek supportive services. In particular, our frontline staff. During Covid-19, there were rapid changes with rules and information from the Centers for Disease Control and D.C. Department of Health to keep our clients and staff safe. Our employees faced every challenge with flexibility and hard work.

We want to share a couple of important program changes that occurred during 2021. COVID-19 changed our lives in many unexpected ways. The Coalition was not spared, our 50th Street Family Program that provided temporary housing to homeless families and children was closed on September 30, 2021. This action was taken as part of the District of Columbia's government realignment of homeless services. Family homelessness decreased because of rental subsidies, eviction moratoriums, and other housing assistance programs. The Coalition is exploring other ways to use this property to benefit the community.

During 2021 the Coalition served 318 individuals, helped 133 people move to permanent housing, and helped 21 adults secure employment. These numbers were down from previous years. To mitigate the spread of COVID-19, the Coalition had to modify its service delivery to help enforce social distancing. As a result, we had to reduce the number of people we served.

Our vision "Rebuilding lives through the elimination of homelessness" remains strong. Our commitment and the primary measure of our community impact is to help people move to permanent housing. People who are homeless in our community need services to help them. A safe and stable place to live is one of the solutions to homelessness.

We appreciate your support more than ever during these difficult times.

With our deepest gratitude,

Geoffrey P. Lewis
Chairperson

Executive Director

Our Programs

Our six Transitional Housing Programs allow our clients in need of shelter to transform their lives. The goal of each program is to prepare clients to successfully return to independent living by providing a safe environment and supportive social services. Our Case Managers work closely with each client, providing job search assistance, counseling, connections to childcare and medical services, household budget planning, and housing assistance. In addition, clients participate in workshops on a range of important topics, including resume writing, financial planning, and parenting education.

Update

The 50th Street Family Program closed on September 30, 2021. The D.C. Department of Human Services chose not to renew funding in 2022 due to the decrease in family homelessness. This decrease was primarily driven by the eviction moratorium and emergency rental assistance to prevent family homelessness. The Coalition owns the property and the leadership is exploring other program uses to serve the community.

Success Story

Hello, my name is Douglas Robertson.

I am one of the Coalition's success stories. Thank you to the community for supporting the homeless.

Douglas Robertson became homeless in 1995. Although his family tried to help him, his drug addiction made it impossible.

During the winter of 1998, Mr. Robertson was arrested on suspicion of selling drugs and taken to jail. He was released late the same evening, but it was too cold to stay outside. He ended up at Blair Shelter for Men and stayed there off and on. Mr. Robertson ended up getting sent to jail in 2005 and released in 2009. He was sent to a rehabilitation facility in Washington, DC, for 90 days. Afterward, he was sent to Blair, now a transitional housing program for men.

While at Blair, Mr. Robertson enrolled in a Home Health Aide Program sponsored by the Department of Human Services. He graduated and received a certificate of completion in September 2010. He became employed at Capital Home Health Care and stayed with them for ten years. He is currently employed with Georgetown Home Health Care.

Mr. Robertson moved into the Coalition's Sherman Avenue Single Room Occupancy (SRO). He was hired as a Resident Manager in 2015. According to Mr. James Freeny, Director of Operations, Mr. Robertson was a model resident and demonstrated leadership qualities. Sherman Avenue SRO is for men who were once homeless and have shown they can live independently.

Mr. Robertson says recovery looks different for everyone. He says that keeping a job, having money in his pocket, and showing up to spend time with his 17 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren makes him content and happy. When asked what advice he would give to others struggling, he replied, "Ask for help and stay focused."

The Coalition wishes Mr. Robertson continued success and happiness.

Dear Friends at Coalition for the Homeless,

We are the middle and high school students of Edmund Burke School's Fundraising Club. Over the past month, we held a series of bake sales at our school to raise money for the Coalition for the Homeless, representing our $448.25 donation earlier this month. We know how important it is to help the struggling people of our community get back on their feet, and all of the members of our club felt passionately about doing what we could to help this cause and to support individuals in our community. We look forward to future opportunities for our club to support the Coalition for the Homeless. Thank you for all you do.

Sincerely,

Edmund Burke School's Fundraising Club

Aiton Elementary School Made an Impact Inside & Outside of the Classroom

While discussing identity, fourth-grade students at Aiton Elementary School in Washington, DC, dove into the idea that external factors, like our community, make up parts of our identity. When asked the question by their teacher, Ms. Samantha Mahoney, about what type of impact they want to make on their community, the students decided that they wanted to raise money for the homeless people in their community. They wanted to help because they believe that everyone deserves to feel safe in a home, have food, and have someone who loves and supports them. Thank you to the students for raising $430 to help the homeless.

Thank you for helping members in our community.

Andrew Grimaldi

is the Chairperson of the Coalition's Cultural Committee. The committee is focused on developing best practices in board management, ensuring the Coalition is a great place to work, and exploring ways to encourage innovation across the organization. Andrew's passion for working to prevent homelessness comes from his own experience. When Andrew was a teenager, his parents' home went into foreclosure due to his father losing a good-paying job. The foreclosure negatively impacted the family with lingering debt and bad credit for over a decade. At times, the family was homeless and had to stay with relatives. When Andrew's parents did obtain housing, the family continued to struggle because renting was just as expensive as their previous mortgage payments. It took a long time for the family to overcome their financial difficulties and become stable. Andrew is the Chief Financial Officer at the Farm Credit System Insurance Corporation (FCSIC). He is a licensed Certified Public Accountant and attorney.

Delese Harvey

joined the Coalition for the Homeless board of directors in 2017. She is also a member of the Coalition's Internal Culture Committee, which focuses on developing best practices in board management, ensuring the Coalition is a great place to work, and exploring ways to encourage innovation across the organization. Ms. Harvey is Deputy Director at the Disabled Veterans National Foundation. Ms. Harvey has spent the last 18 years working in the nonprofit sector. She worked to develop and implement programming to support the growth and development of children and families, at-risk populations including veterans, formerly incarcerated persons, individuals with a history of homelessness and substance abuse, and those seeking to secure economic security. She has dedicated her time to Ward 8 and other vulnerable communities in Washington, DC. Ms. Harvey graduated from The University of Maryland University College with a Master of Science in Nonprofit Management.

Stevie Patton

has been a longtime supporter of the coalition's mission to help those experiencing or at risk of becoming homeless. Stevie has served as a volunteer and motivational speaker at the Webster House. In 2018, Stevie joined the Coalition's Board to continue his passion for ending homelessness. Stevie is President and owner of S&J Electrical Contractors, LLC. In 2014, he received his electrical and OSHA-30 certifications from Independent Electrical Contractors. Later, Stevie took a leap of faith and opened his own electrical contracting company serving residential and commercial properties in the DMV area. S&J Electrical Contractors was awarded several major renovations and ongoing electrical maintenance contracts with clients like L-Hayes & Associates Property Management Company, University of Maryland, and Baltimore Washington International Airport (BWI) through his leadership and expertise. Stevie knows firsthand with faith, dedication, and hard work, you can achieve anything. A message he shares in hopes of inspiring and uplifting others.

Doris Washington

joined the Coalition of the Homeless (CFH) Board of Advisors after volunteering for a major fundraiser IN 1993. In 1997, she was elected Board Secretary, and from 2006 to 2013, she served as Board Chair. Doris' longtime involvement with the Coalition coincided with her career as an executive and manager in the federal government's housing and financial services sectors. Homelessness was a natural interest of hers. Doris firmly believes collaborations enhance CFH's impact with corporations, businesses, nonprofits, and faith-based organizations. She organized the Coalition's first Jobs and Apprenticeship Fair with local elected officials, trade associations, and employers. Additionally, she led initiatives that strengthened the CFH's strategic planning, development, and fundraising programs. Ms. Washington also served on a nonprofit board that provides housing to developmentally disabled persons. She continues her work toward expanding cultural literacy through the arts.

“I am proud to be a major donor to the Coalition first and foremost, because I believe in its mission. I always knew I wanted the Nailsaloon to be a socially conscious business and in the last year, that desire has only grown. I am extremely grateful that, as a small business, we have been able to survive - so far - these challenging times. It’s particularly humbling because that has not been every business’ case. So, supporting an organization that in turn, supports those most in need, feels like a good way to acknowledge and honor our good fortune.”

“When I think of ways to give back to our community, I can’t help but think of the Homeless. Being from Washington DC, it is hard to imagine not volunteering time, talent and treasure to support a cause I am passionate about, it just makes sense. It is one way to stay connected to the community while making a difference in people’s lives. Seeing and following the transformations of people’s lives is an added bonus. Lily Vo (Monthly giver)

“I am proud to have supported Coalition for the Homeless (CFH) through monthly giving over the past four years. Until recently, I walked past homeless encampments in Washington, DC every day while commuting to and from work. It pained me to see the challenging living conditions of the many homeless individuals and families there, especially during the harsh DC winters. Thankfully, CFH provides short to medium-term shelter, job training, and other assistance to these homeless individuals and families, as well as connect them with social services, to help them become self-sufficient. I was especially inspired by the story of Stevie Patton, who, with CFH’s help, was able to overcome his struggles with poverty and substance abuse, eventually starting his own business.”

“I support the DC Coalition for the Homeless because I want to live in a community where all my neighbors have access to safe, healthy, and affordable housing, in which no person is unhoused. I believe that the Coalition provides crucial housing and employment resources for folks in times of need, and I believe that the Coalition’s work is helping to build a more just and equitable community for us all.”
